Answer all the questions! Marks are indicated on the right!

1.	A first-year student sits alone at the back of a crowded lecture hall at Daffodil International University. Most of her classmates already seem to know each other. They are laughing, talking, and exchanging notes. The professor announces a group project and asks everyone to form their own teams. Within a few minutes, all the groups are almost complete, and she is still sitting alone. If you were in this situation, explain how you would show courage and confidence. What would you do next, and what would you say to join a group?	5 CLO- 1, Level-2
2.	You are a second-year student struggling with Advanced Mathematics course and fail the first exam despite attending all classes. A friend suggests that you teach the concepts to others. You gather three classmates, explain the formulas in simple, easy to understand language, and by the next exam, all of you improve significantly. Interpret how exploring new study techniques can help you understand challenging concepts and strengthen your belief in your own abilities. Provide examples from your experience.	5 CLO- 1, Level-2
3.	Shammi is invited to her close friend's wedding dinner at a buffet-style restaurant. During the meal, some of her friends make competition to take food first, gossip loudly and ignore basic table manners. Identify how Shammi could apply proper etiquette in this situation to respond politely. How would she act to set a positive example for others during the wedding dinner?	5 CLO- 2, Level-3
4.	Discover the importance of social awareness in resolving conflicts and promoting cooperation within communities and across nations. How can socially aware actions help address global conflicts and promote peaceful solutions?	5 CLO- 3, Level-4
5.	Monisha, a university student living in a hostel, has become busy with studies and social life, so she rarely communicates with her parents. Her parents try to stay in touch and guide her, but she feels that they are extremely meddling in her privacy and feels more irritated. Evaluate Monisha's responsibilities toward her parents and recommend ways she can rebuild a healthy and respectful relationship with them.	5 CLO- 4, Level-5
